Especially in the business lobby and the larger departments, people suffered from dust and a musty smell. The printers and computers causing fine dust and odours and there are plenty of visitors who smoke inside. Furthermore, also the air pollution from outside (smog) which comes inside plays a big role, combined with the limited ventilation in the building. smoking shelters. When the odour problem occurred at the cardio department, we did a test with a new air cleaner with a CarbonMax filter. The air cleaner solved about 75% of the odour problem. The other 25% is achieved by a good air conditioning system and the discipline of the staff.
